

b. Fill in the missing parts in the following diagram of the run-time structures for execution of this code up to the point where the call inside `h(3)` is about to return. The drawing uses Closures, however, for this exercise a function can point directly to the compiled code. You do not need to make use of Closures. The activation records are numbered 1-7, from the top.

